Subject: February 2018 Resources of the Month

Dear UCCCN members,

Here are your February 2018 resources of the month.

Brainstorming:

Case #1 -- from Pat Rowe, who was able to help overturn a decision made years ago for a child with Prune Belly syndrome who has been admitted many times for “clean outs” using enemas ... SelectHealth wouldn’t pay for some of the items being used off-label. Insurance now supplies and covers everything needed. The mom was very helpful, articulate, knew what she needed, what can be reused, etc., saving them about $500/mo. Please, tell your families to call Pat Rowe if they need help with SelectHealth insurance. Other insurance: be persistent with your insurance company, present the need clearly, question the status quo. Parents are really the experts - listen to them and be willing to ask questions to fill in the gaps. Ultimately, the parents need to connect with their insurance although care coordinators can help smooth the way. Parents gain valuable skills through the experience, as well, and the child benefits going forward.

Dusty Frisby: Teach parents what language to use, how to talk about their needs, what questions to ask insurance, what they can ask for, so that they can effectively advocate for their child when it really counts. May get coverage as if they’re in-network. Advise them on the appeal process; at the third level, the review board’s physician will appreciate being educated by the parent.

Case #2 -- from Toni Estrada: An update on Vernal family, single out-of-work mom in need of a vehicle for a growing 11 yr old who uses a wheelchair. Active Re-entry provided a van, with a ramp. They also obtained donations to cover tax, registration, and insurance for first 6 months. Family of three is no longer housebound after nearly a year wait. Active Re-entry will convert an existing van, or trade vehicles. Toni worked with Louie Santianez at the Price Active Re-entry. Family is put on a list. Care coordinator needs to advocate repeatedly. Per Gina: in Salt Lake, Davis, Utah counties there’s a lot of need, and funding depends on the Legislative year.

Services for People with Disabilities

Active Re-entry Center for Independent Living program which assists individuals with disabilities to achieve or maintain self-sufficient and productive lives in their own communities. USOR Center for Independent Living (CIL) MHP 11780
Case #3 -- from Tomoko Tsukamoto: Tomoko has been reviewing PCH emergency visits for complex kids. Many families are coming to ED for feeding tube and button issues, largely because practices are telling them to go to the ED. PCH will be creating a Feeding Tube Clinic soon. In the meantime, they can call Tomoko. If patients are coming to the Complex Care clinic, there is a 24 hour number they can call. Families are given emergency G-tube kits. Once used, they need another, may have to pay out of pocket and/or there may be a one-week wait for a rare size. If they don’t get another kit in time, they have to go to the ED. Primary care physicians are not comfortable in dealing with G-tubes, G-buttons. Nurses generally administer, and training is needed. Parents can attend a G-J tube class. Tomoko will ask if training classes can be open to professionals. See also the Medical Home Portal’s page on Feeding Tubes and Gastrostomies.
